

Artist Statement: The space in our lives created, filled and left by others shape who we are. Found objects become talismans holding the magic of memories, time and space. These familiar things remind us of connections made and lost. We find our own talismans and imbue them with the magic of our lives.

Christopher Chuckry is an artist and visual storyteller, best known for colouring comic books. Early years in fairly isolated rural surroundings allowed plenty of room for dreams and imagination. Generally quiet and often reserved, creating pictures and telling stories is a way he shares his inner life and interests.
